The Smith family of New Jersey had their annual roundup last Tuesday. They meet annually to count up.

It is reported that Edward A. Cudahy will be the manager of the new beef combine at a salary of $100,000 a year. A pretty fat job.

Ex-Judge David Schenck, one of the most prominent lawyers in this State, died after a protracted illness, at his home in Greensboro Tuesday.

A Massachusetts woman wants $100,000 damages from a Chicago man for breach of promise. In a case like that $100,000 ought to fill a pretty big breach.

Since the racket in South Africa a new gold field has been discovered in the Transvaal, equal in extent to the Whitewatersand. This will be some consolation to John Bull for the money he spent in that fracas.

In Spain they look on it as a sign of mental derangement because the young King thinks of marrying a plebian. Perhaps this is a streak of good sense, to improve the royal stock, which is very much deteriorated.

What is the matter with this country anyway? Now, following the example of J. Waldorf Astor, Jas. J. Van Alen, of Rhode Island, is going to alienate himself and become a Britisher. He has discovered that "England is the only fit place for a gentleman to live in."

The British colonis are helping the mother country to strengthen her navy. They have nearly all agreed to contribute, and it is assumed that the total contributions will amount to about $2,650,000 a year, which would build two battleships and two second-class cruisers every five years.

ANOTHER TRAMP STEAMER.

Torgorm Arrived Yesterday for Cargo of Gum Timber—Naval Stores Market. Big Cargo of Cross Ties—A Barque Off With Rosin

New crop cotton continues to arrive and the Champion Compress remains the busiest place in the city. Yesterday's receipts were 573 bales and as usual the W., C. & A. railroad shared largest in its transportation. It is a singular fact that most of the nearly five thousand bales of new staple received so far has come from South Carolina, in competition with Charleston, Savannah and Augusta, at which points the new receipts so far have been comparatively small. It is a safe earnest that Messrs. Sprunt & Son will quite hold their own this year and if anything extend the large territory that is already their own. A large fleet of steamers is already on the way here and still greater activity may be expected. The Polano will get here to-morrow or Sunday from Baltimore. The local cotton market remains firm at 8¼ cents, although New York futures showed a break of a few points yesterday.

A partial list of cotton steamers bound for Wilmington is as follows: Rosewood, 1,104 tons, McGregor, at Villa Real Aug. 9th; Polano 1,898 tons, Holtum, Baltimore; Tolosa, 2,099 tons, Widdess, Baltimore; Gladys, 1,509 tons, Edwards, sailed Hamburg, Aug. 22nd. Among the schooners chartered for this port are the Harriet C. Kerlin, 458 tons, New York; Clara A. Donnell, 991 tons, Boston, and the Lizzie M. Parsons, 541 tons, New York.

The British steamer Torgorm, 1,065 tons, Capt Halladay, arrived at quarantine yesterday morning from Demerara and will proceed up to the city perhaps to-day or to-morrow for a cargo of gum logs and rosin for Glasgow, Scotland. She is consigned to Mr. Will L. Miller, manager here for the Acme Tea Chest Company, of Glasgow. Mr. Miller has a fine cargo ready for the big tramp and there will be no delay in loading her.

Wilmington paid the same for spirits turpentine yesterday as Savannah, the largest naval store market in the world, a distinction once held by Wilmington. The local market was quoted steady at 44½ cents for machine made casks. The receipts for the day were 119 casks. Rosin, in which there has been nothing doing locally for several days, opened again yesterday steady at $1.10@$1.15 per barrel.

The work of removing the coal bins and other machinery of J. A. Springer & Co.'s plant to its new location across Chesnut street is progressing very rapidly and will be completed by the near approach of the Fall season. Work on the large merchandise warehouse of the D. L. Gore Co. will commence as soon as the removal is completed.

The tug Navassa is now engaged with her other harbor duties in hauling to the city an immense quantity of scrap iron from the factory up the river. The iron is being unloaded on the company's wharf back of the office of George Harriss, Sons & Co., and has been sold to the Wilmington Iron Works.

Messrs. Flynn & Co. yesterday cleared the big four-masted schooner John Twohy for Boston, with a cargo of 16,500 cross ties. The Twohy is the second largest sailing vessel that ever took a cargo from this port. She was drawing 19 feet 2 inches of water when she pulled out from the dock.

The Norwegian barque Hermod cleared yesterday for Amsterdam, with a cargo of 5,527 barrels rosin, consigned to the S. P. Shotter Co., through the firm's Wilmington agent, Mr. Matt. J. Heyer. The vessel was cleared by Heide & Co.

The British schooner Marion Louise sailed at 10:30 A. M. yesterday from Southport, bound hence for Samana, Santo Domingo, with a lumber cargo.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerken Back.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Gerken returned yesterday from their California trip. They report a most delightful time. From the Elks' Supreme Lodge at Salt Lake City, they journeyed on to California and went from San Francisco via Los Angeles by the Santa Fe route, through Mexico and back to Denver, returning home by way of St. Louis, Chattanooga and Atlanta. Capt. and Mrs. Meares returned on Wednesday. The others of the party, who left several weeks ago, will return at their convenience.

Southport Railroad Again.

Southport Standard: "Again on Friday Maj. W. A. Guthrie, of Durham, and J. H. Gore, Esq., of Wilmington, and R. W. Davis, Esq., of Southport, put in their appearance before the Clerk of Superior Court in the matter of the special proceedings to condemn certain properties near the town for railway purposes, but it took but a few moments to decide that for good and sufficient reasons the important hearing could be continued sixty days, to which the several attorneys and the clerk did all agree, and so the matter was postponed."

STRANGE SOUND NEGRO HELD FOR VAGRANCY.

Allen Jones, Captured Last Sunday Morning by Vigilance Committee, Sent to the Roads for Thirty Days.

Allen Jones, the negro whose arrest on Masonboro Sound early last Sunday morning by a posse of citizens, was noted in these columns Tuesday, was sent to the roads yesterday by Justice Fowler for 30 days, the charge upon which he was tried having been vagrancy.

Although the evidence did not quite warrant the charge, it is believed by many that the negro is responsible for the wholesale burglary that took place on Wrightsville about three weeks ago. Messrs. Stokeley and Gordon Grant, the two young men who had a glimpse of the Wrightsville burglar, say they are pretty certain, but not positive, that Jones is the man wanted for those offences. The negro is about 50 years of age and says he is from Alabama and has been engaged in unloading barges for a livelihood. Jeff Fair and Frank Williams, two reputable colored men of the sound, testified in court yesterday that Jones had been loitering about the sound for a long time and that upon one occasion he had been seen coming out of the house of a Mr. Edens under suspicious circumstances.

Mr. Elijah Orrell, who was at the head of the posse which captured Jones, testified as to the circumstances of the same. Determined to stop the burglaries which always seemed to occur on Saturday night, the men of the community armed themselves last Saturday night and lay in hiding about the residences on the sound. Jones was seen on the second story front porch of Mr. C. F. VonKampen's residence, on Masonboro, at 1 o'clock last Sunday morning by Mrs. E. P. H. Strunck, who was a guest at the home. She gave an alarm, and Mr. Von Kampen rushed out of the house and fired his pistol several times. The negro made a rapid descent down one of the columns of the porch, and the party of citizens lying in wait heard the firing and caught Jones about 200 yards from the house.

Jones is a strange negro in a strange land. He appeares to be known only by a colored woman with whom he boarded on the sound.

CAPTURED BIG RATTLER IN ONSLOW COUNTY.

Colored Man Brought a Big Reptile to the City Caught by His Own Hand. Purchaser Wanted.

Solomon Beatty, a colored man who lives near Edgecombe, Onslow county, arrived in the city yesterday with a reminder of circus times—a large, five-foot ground rattlesnake which he captured alive two weeks ago while cutting turpentine boxes in a pocosin three miles from his home. The big snake has 10 rattles and a button and his body is about 3½ inches in diameter. The colored man brought him to the city in a wooden box with glass cover and exhibited him at the City Hall, where he is left for sale. The daily diet of the big reptile since he was captured has been frogs, mice, squirrels and anything of that kind that Beatty could get for him.

Beatty tells a remarkable story of how he captured the snake. He says he was barefooted and had just stooped to cut a box when he discovered that he had stepped on some cold, clammy substance. He looked down and was alarmed to find the big snake coiled as if to strike. Beatty said he withdrew and sat down upon a log to catch his breath and to formulate a plan of reducing the reptile to captivity At last he decided to catch him back of the head and he put his decision into execution at once. The fangs were extracted from the snake's mouth with a turpentine knife. He carried the snake home, after killing another on his way out of the pocosin, and yesterday found his way to Wilmington, where he hopes to find a purchaser for his prisoner.

And he says the above is no "snake story" either.

Salary $10,000 a Year.

Savannah News 28th: "Mr. W. H. Pleasants goes to the Ocean Steamship Company at a salary of $10,000 a year. When he is made president of the company, succeeding President J. F. Hanson, who will retire in his favor after a few months, it is probable that there will be an advance made in his salary. The News has mentioned the report that General Freight Agent James Menzies, of the Atlantic Coast Line, would be the man, and now it seems that Traffic Manager E. H. Hinton, of the Tennessee Central, who formerly filled that position with the Central of Georgia, is spoken of. Mr. Hinton is a railway man of great ability, and his succession to Mr. Pleasants would cause no surprise."

Back From Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sprunt and son, Laurence, and their nephew, Dr. E. J. Wood, arrived in New York yesterday on the steamship Majestic, after an extended tour of European countries. Mr. Sprunt and Dr. Wood are expected to reach Wilmington to-night. Mrs. Sprunt and Master Laurence will go to Saratoga to spend some time before returning.

— Mr. W. A. French and Mr. W. A. French, Jr., have gone to Boston and other points North, where they will purchase Fall and Winter stock for the popular shoe firm of Geo. R. French & Son.

TROLLEY CARS HERE.

Two Arrived Last Night and Are Being Unloaded at Tenth and Orange.

OTHERS COMING NEXT WEEK.

Season at the Beach May Be Extended by Arrival of the New Equipment. Closing Hops at Seashore Hotel. Conductors and Motormen.

Two of the four suburban cars which the Consolidated Railways, Light and Power Company will operate on the trolley line to Wrightsville beach arrived last night and are being unloaded near Tenth and Orange streets. The other two cars, which were shipped last Saturday, have not yet reached the Pennsylvania road from the Jersey Central and had to be sidetracked for repairs to the flat cars upon which they were loaded at the factory. They will be here the last of next week.

General Manager Skelding, of the C. R. L. & P. Co., said last night that he was unprepared to say just then when the two cars that have already arrived will be put in use for the general public, but it will be some time during the coming week. The trucks are to be placed under the cars and then some time will be required in "limbering up" the machinery. In the advertising columns of the STAR to-day the schedule of the electric cars is printed, together with much other valuable information to patrons of the line. It is effective September 10th, but the two cars already here may be in operation before that time. Mr. Skelding says they will be put in operation just as soon as possible. By diligent work on the part of the large force of men now at work unloading the cars it may be possible that they will be in readiness for a trial trip by officials of the road to-night.

The freight car for use on the electric road is expected in ten days or two weeks. In the meantime ample provision is made by the company for handling the traffic otherwise.

The cars have been numbered and motormen and conductors assigned to them as follows:

No. 27.—Blackman, motorman; Scott, conductor; Shepard, relief.

No. 29.—Smith, motorman; Lucise Bishop, conductor; Hill, relief.

No. 31.—Rhodes, motorman; McGowan, conductor; Long, relief.

No. 33 will be operated as an extra and no crew has been definitely assigned to that one as yet. There has likewise been no definite assignment of a crew to the freight car.

The arrival of the new trolley cars and the annoucement that they will be in operation in a very short time has revived a question that always comes from the public about this period of the season at the beach, viz: "When will the Seashore Hotel close?" Manager Joe Hinton in conversation with a reporter over the 'phone yesterday said that it might positively be stated that the hotel will be open until Sept. 15th and possibly longer than that time. He now has 130 guests and many of them, in fact, most all of them, have signified their intention of staying until the close. With new ones arriving each day, it is almost safe to say the hotel will remain open even after September 15th. The last two dances of the season, however, will be given to-night and to-morrow night and Manager Hinton extends a most cordial invitation to the young people of the city to come down for the closing hops. Music will be by Hollowbush's splendid orchestra.

Florence Times, 28th: "J. M. Stafford, of Charleston, fell between the cars of freight train 212, near Pembroke and received two very serious injuries last night. The wheels ran over his right leg below the knee, and his right arm was fractured in two places. He was placed in charge of Drs. Evans, Gregg and Hicks. By special request he was sent to his home in Charleston, where he will be operated upon."

DELIGHTFUL CLUB EVENT AT CAROLINA BEACH.

Closing Hop of the Season Last Night by Popular Seaside Organization—Bowling Contest and Target Shoot.

Hanover Seaside Club scored a decided success last night in its closing hop of the season at Carolina Beach. A large number of clubmen, their families and friends went down on the three trips of the steamer during the day, and their stay at the beach was replete with entertainment from beginning to end.

In the afternoon and continuing at night a big oyster roast claimed the attention of many, and during the day there was a programme of events in bowling and target shooting that created no end of interest. In the target shooting for gentlemen Messrs. Geo. Schnibben and Henry Geischen won first and second prizes, repectively, in scores of 75 and 60. The first prize was a season club ticket for 1903, and the second was a handsome hammock. In the target practice for ladies, Miss Johanna Fuchs won first prize, a lady's silk purse, and Mrs. Geo. Tienken won the second prize, which was a pretty gold hat pin.

In the bowling alley contest, Mr. Henry Gieschen took first prize, a season club ticket; score, 61 out of a possible 70. Mr. B. F. King took second prize, a bathing suit, his score having been 57 out of a possible 70.

Music was furnished all day by the Italian Harpers. At night came the closing hop, which was enjoyed by a large number of couples. The dancers and spectators returned to the city on a late boat, which left the pier about 11 o'clock and reached the city at midnight.

While the final public event of the season is over, the club house will not close for several weeks yet. The affair yesterday and last night was admirably arranged by the House Committee, composed of Messrs. Henry Gieschen, William Tienken and F. A. Bissenger.

THE TRUST PROBLEM.

In his Boston speech, Monday, President Roosevelt confined himself to the trust question, and spoke as a man who was really anxious to repress the trusts. He candidly admitted that there are trusts which are violating the law, trusts that ought to be compelled to obey the law, but the question with him is how are they to be compelled to do it. He asserts that when trusts are chartered by one State and are doing an inter-State business it is difficult to handle them, because the laws in different States differ, and hence the only way to reach such combinations is through Federal laws. But the Federal Government, he contends, has not power enough over them, and hence they practically defy both State and Federal statutes.

On the same day that he made this deliverance Governor Odell, of New York, was interviewed on the the trust problem and said that no revision of the tariff was necessary to put an end to the trust evil, and hence he hoped that the Republican State Convention would not insert a plank in its platform demanding tariff revision, adding, "The laws of our State are sufficient to deal with the trust problem. If any trust attempts to operate here, it can be readily punished under the existing laws of the State."

Governor Odell is a Republican and the Governor of President Roosevelt's State. Isn't this a remarkable difference of opinion between these two distinguished gentlemen, one asserting that it is practically impossible to control the trusts under State laws, the other contending that the laws of his State are ample to do that, "If any trust attempts to operate here," he says, "it can be readily punished." Are there no trusts operating in New York? If not, it is a phenomenal exception, for they are operating in every State in the Union and sweep from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Doesn't the Beef Trust operate in New York? Doesn't the Steel Trust operate there? Doesn't the Coal Trust? Doesn't the Oil Trust? Doesn't the Ship-building Trust? Doesn't J. Pierpont Morgan's Railroad Trust? Has there ever been a move against any of these save the Beef Trust, when the Court of Appeals was asked to issue an injunction against it? And yet he says "if any trust attempts to operate here it can be punished." But in what danger are they of being punished when even the Governor of the State seems to be oblivious of the fact that there are any trusts in the State? He is evidently not so much concerned in solving the trust problem as he is in preventing his party from committing itself to tariff revision as one of the ways of "putting an end to the trust evil" by trying to make it appear that the trusts can be held up without any tariff revision.

On the same day Representative Littlefield, of Maine, who, it is said, has been asked by the President to fabricate an anti-trust bill to be submitted to Congress, opened the campaign for the Republicans at Lewiston, in that State. It was a "tariff and trust talk," which is thus partially reported by wire:

"There are hundreds and thousands of corporations not protected by the tariff. The Standard Oil Company is the biggest of all trusts, and it has no tariff protection. Anthracite coal is a trust, and there is no tariff on that. Go to free-trade England you will find the whole country honey-combed with trusts. Sir John Culpeper fought them in 1640.

"They are all over Europe and in countries that have never heard of a tariff. This proves the falsity of the statement that the tariff is the mother of trusts. The Government creates no benefit in favor of trusts.

"Then what is the great evil of this question? I will tell you. It destroys individual competition and controls prices. That is the great danger. The trusts get rebates that the individual competitor cannot get. Now strike off the tariff, and what goes to the wall first? Why, it is the weaker party—the individual competitor. The unthinking person would drive out all the weaker ones, and the trust alone might survive. In the tin business no one would be left. We would then go abroad to buy our tin of a foreign trust. I would rather buy of a home trust that we might in some way control."

It is somewhat remarkable the unanimity of the Republican statesmen and spellbinders in jumping on the trusts, when not one in a dozen of them would admit two years ago that there was such a thing as a trust in existence in this country. Mark Hanna declared that they had been all killed by the Sherman law. Senator Depew echoed him and scores of others followed these two. But now they have discovered that there are trusts that need being called down and are quite as unanimous in jumping on them as they were in denying their existence two years ago.

Mr. Littlefield, who is going to undertake to suppress them, declines to recognize or adopt the most effective way to begin with them by lowering the tariff, at least on trust-controlled articles, and resorts to the old dodge of asserting that the tariff does not foster trusts, as Secretary Shaw had done a short while before in his Morrisville, Vermont, speech. He says there are trusts in all countries, some of which have never heard of tariffs. The countries which have never heard of tariffs can't amount to much and need not be counted in this discussion.

Outside of Germany and Russia, both protection countries, there are no such trusts as we have in this country. The trusts of these two countries follow the example of the trusts in this country and get all they can out of the home customer, while they deal fairly and reasonably with the customer in other countries. In Great Britain they have business combinations but they do not ride the high horse as the trusts in this country do, because free trade prevents them from putting their prices up to the extortion point. There are greedy men there, of course, as there are everywhere, but they can't satiate their greed there as our tariff protected trusts can and do. In an interview in New York the other day Mr. Ogden Armour, the beef magnate of Chicago, said that beef trusts could not be organized in Europe because there was no tariff on cattle and a trust could not control the beef market. Here is Armour, the Trust magnate and beef packer, versus Littlefield, the politician and high tariff defender.

While not directly, both the Oil Trust and the Anthracite Trust are indirectly protected by the tariff.

He admits that the trusts destroy individual competition and control prices, because he could not deny it, and seems to have taken his cue from the speech of Secretary Shaw at Morrisville, Vermont, when he declared that lowering the tariff or repealing the protective duties wouldn't do any good, but rather harm for individuals and the weaker companies when brought into competition with free imports from Europe would be the first to go to the wall, leaving the trusts masters of the field.

This is the thinnest kind of stuff, so thin that a man who values his reputation for honesty or sense ought to be ashamed to father it in the light of the facts with which the American people have become familiar.

THE FREE TRADE BOGY.

When any Republican politician talks about tariff revision and lowering the protective duties the protectionists tell him he is becoming a Democratic "free trader" and thus try to scare other Republicans who favor protection, but believe the present tariff is too high, and altogether unnecessary from a protective standpoint when the protected have got to that point when they can compete successfully with foreign rivals without it.

Of course everybody who is up to the tricks of the advocates of protection who are opposed to tariff revision understand this, and the object in view when they indulge in such talk for which there is not the slightest foundation, for every sensible person knows that this "free trade" chatter is simply rot, and that free trade as they understand it, and try to make it appear, is simply impossible. The appropriations for the current year amount to nearly $900,000,000. With necessity for a revenue like that where could free trade come in?

The Government must have money to meet current expenses and obligations, and the only way it can get it is from import duties and internal taxes, by far the larger part of which comes from import duties. When such an immense revenue as this is annually necessary and more likely to become larger than smaller for some years to come, a "tariff for revenue" would give all the protection that could be reasonably asked, even if any were necessary. This "free trade" talk is simply ancient rot.

THIS IS BUSINESS.

The Charlotte Observer several days ago announced that an oil refining company had been organized to operate in that city and refine the oil made at surrounding mills. In speaking of this enterprise it says:

The establishment of the oil refinery is not to be interpreted as a fight on the big oil trust. The incorporators or stockholders in the new company find that the crude oil, which is made by plants in which they are interested, sells for 28 cents, while refined oil sells at 42 cents. The cost of refining oil is only a few cents on the gallon, it is said, and the man back of the Charlotte refinery have determined to take a logically independent stand and save the large profits, for refining, that have been usually made by plants under the control of the trust.

With the difference between 28 and 42 cents a gallon, while the cost of refining is only a few cents a gallon, it is somewhat remarkable that our oil mill men didn't catch on to this sooner and arrange to save the 14 cents a gallon difference, minus the few cents a gallon it costs to do the refining. Say the saving would be 10 cents a gallon, the aggregate saved on the output of a half-dozen or so of oil mills doing an ordinary amount of business would soon put up, equip and pay for a very respectable refinery.

The oil product of the South is worth about $50,000,000 a year. Most of this oil, if not all, is sold as it comes from the mills at about 28 cents a gallon. Add the difference between 28 and 42 cents to each gallon sold and this total would be increased by $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 more. The difference, less the cost of refining, goes to the refiners, who probably make more clear money out of it than the mills do.

This suggests the fact, which has been conclusively shown, that if we got all the possibilities out of the cotton seed, the seed alone would be worth more than the entire crop of cotton now is.

The Raleigh News and Observer quotes Ped Thomas, a leading Republican of Davidson county, as saying in a speech before the county convention that he was opposed to lynching and that the only crime that ought to be punished by lynching is the crime of stealing ballots. He objects to lynching probably because it reduces the Republican vote. But how about the man who proclaims that he deems stealing votes a more heinous crime than rape or murder?

It is said that when Senator Hanna talks about the refusal of the coal barons to settle the strike his "eyes flash." He did his level best, he says, to bring about a settlement but failed, and now has no hope, but expects the strike to go on. If it was a Presidential year and Hanna took as much interest in the candidate as he did in the past two elections he would doubtless find a way to get the barons together and bring them to terms.

John Dunfee, of Syracuse, N. Y., who began life as a boot black, got mad at the porter of a big building because he drove him away and wouldn't let him shine around there. He told the porter he would be rich some day, buy that house and bounce him. He is a millionaire now, bought that block a few days ago and would have bounced the porter if the porter hadn't disappointed him by dying some time ago.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— General Miles is to be boosted at the G. A. R. reunion in Washington in October, and later on at a Spanish War veterans' blow-out in Detroit. He may get raised up to a point where the renewed buzzing of the presidental bee may be heard in in his beadgear.—Richmond Times, Dem.

— Hiram Crook, of Oneida county, N. Y., the only soldier of the War of 1812 on the Government pension rolls, is reported to be dying in his one hundred and third year. At this rate the pension list of the civil law will not terminate until 1952. But how about the widows? We have not gotten through with the Revolutionary War as to them Louisville Courier-Journal, Dem.

— "The price the people are paying for coal because of this dispute," says the Hartford Times, "is preposterously out of proportion to the real differences between the operators and the miners. If every demand of the latter were granted the cost of the coal might advance 12 or 13 per cent. Now it has actually advanced about 100 per cent and is expected to go higher." The fact is not at all surprising, however. It is generally understood that that is what the strike was induced for—Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

— Mr. J. Pierpoint Morgan refuses to make any effort to settle the strike in the coal regions on any terms except the unconditional surrender of the strikers. Mr. Morgan has doubtless made all arrangements to retire to dear old England and be forever after happy when the catechism which his methods promise shall have burst over the country. Public sympathy is rapidly crystalizing on the side of the miners, who are willing to submit to arbitration, and against the trust, which has no compromise to make with its employes, who, it is claimed, are making only reasonable demands.—Chattanooga Times, Ind.

THE WOMAN WHO WEEPS.

When Real Trouble Comes, She Is No Good.

I am not going to speak now of the woman whose heart is bowed down with grief, the woman who weeps because her heart is full. The particular woman I have in mind is the human watering pot whose tears will splash down her cheeks at the slightest notice and sometimes at no notice at all.

She is usually a woman of great feeling or fancies she is. "I feel so much. I am so sympathetic," she quavers, and even as she says this the moisture comes to her eyes.

If a girl announces her engagement, she cries. If the same girl breaks it off, she cries again. If she hears of the death of a caterpillar, she will weep buckets, and when she is enjoying a novel she does so from first chapter to last with a damp wad of a handkerchief packed tightly in her hand. Everything may be going dead wrong in her house from attic to cellar. The children may be screaming and the servants quarreling, but still she weeps on, bowed with grief at the death of the heroine.

And when real trouble comes do you suppose this most sympathetic woman is any good? Not a bit of it. She sits on a stool and enjoys the utmost luxury of weeping while the victim of it all goes about dry eyed with her heart almost breaking trying to do the work of two. CAROLYN WARD.

A GIRL'S ROOM.

The Great Share It Plays In Forming Her Character.

As soon as a girl has entered her teens she should have a room of her own. The closet should contain her dresses, the bureau her lingerie and ribbons, there should be a bookcase to hold her books and a little desk where she may write notes to her friends.

Giving a girl her own room fosters within her the love of home. It makes her orderly, methodical. It also is a help to her in controlling herself when things go wrong. She can retire into her little den secure in the thought that no one will disturb her. If she has a talent for writing or for drawing, she can indulge in it to her heart's content at her desk. Unconsciously but surely the influence of her room goes toward making her a woman.

Let the girl, then, have a room of her own, be it ever so small. Paper the walls in cheerful colors, have the woodwork white and the furniture, too, if possible. Let the walls be hung with good prints of pretty scenes, landscapes or attractive women by leading illustrators. Put in some low shelves or a bookcase and fill it with inexpensive editions of good works. Teach her how to keep her desk in order, what paper to use, how to write a dainty note.

Above all, insist that the room be kept in perfect order and show her how to take care of it herself.

A Good Defense.

There was once a club formed of lazy men. Fines were inflicted on those who ever forgot themselves so far as to do anything in haste. One day several members saw an old doctor who was renowned for his laziness drive past the door of the club at a furious rate, and loudly they chuckled at the thought of fining him. But on applying to him on the ground of his having been in such a hurry the doctor slowly replied, "No, I wasn't in a hurry, but my mare wanted to go fast, and I was too lazy to stop her."

DECEPTION.

When the conjurer shows an empty hat, and at once begins to extract from it rabbits or cabbages, we know that we have been adroitly deceived, because we know we can't get out anything that isn't in it.

If people would only reason in that way about medicines they would be a great deal better off in health and pocket. A number of so called "blood making" and "flesh forming" "tonic" medicines are only stimulants in disguise. You can't get strength out of a stimulant because strength is not in it. All physical strength is derived from food digested and assimilated and in the form of blood nourishing the entire body. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does not make blood or make strength, no medicine can do that. But it does cure diseases of the stomach and its allied organs, and so causing the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, it enables the building of the body in sound and vigorous health.

"I can say to you one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me sound and well, after suffering two long years with stomach disease," writes W. H. Braswell, of McAdenville, Gaston Co., N. C. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

Indian Prayer Sticks.

Those acquainted with Indian customs know of the prominence that feathers hold in the religious and social ceremonies of the red men. Particularly among the Navajoes and Pueblos are these plume emblems believed to have the utmost efficacy for good or bad.

All about any Pueblo town may be seen carefully whittled sticks, each with a tuft of downy feathers, generally white ones, bound at the top of it. They are prayer sticks and are quite as curious as the prayer wheels of Burma and the paper prayers of the Chinese. The feathers, stick and manner of tying the feathers vary according to the nature of the prayer. The Indian who wishes to ask a favor of the "Trues" prepares his feather prayer with great secrecy. Then, taking it to a proper spot, he prays to those above, and, planting his stick, leaves it to continue his petition.

Too Early.

One raw February morning an instructor in the University of Michigan was calling the roll of an 8 o'clock class in English.

"Mr. Robbins," said he.

There was no answer.

"Mr. Robbins," in a slightly louder voice.

Still no reply.

"Ah," said the instructor, with a quiet smile, "come to think of it, it is rather early for robins."

This is Current Literature's anecdote of the late Moses Coit Tyler, who later became professor of history at Cornell, and it shows him in the pleasing light of a man who could be boyishly gay at a gray and cheerless hour—no small feat, if one stops to consider an instructor's provocations to morning dullness.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The cotton market opened weak, with prices five to ten points lower, under vigorous selling of long cotton by the commission houses and some of the more daring bear operators, all brought on by light to soaking rains over important sections of the central and eastern belt. A forecast for continued precipitation to day and to-morrow over this country and possibly over the northern portion of the western belt, with very disappointing Liverpool cables, helped to weigh down the early market. Not long after the call, however, Wall street bid the whole list up with a rush, the near months not stopping until a net rise of three to five points was recorded, while the other months worked nearly up to the final bids of yesterday. There were frequent sharp fluctuations during the balance of the session but the general tendency was downward under persistent selling by commission house longs and absence of public buying which has heretofore been an important factor. The late rainfall bulletin gave more general and extensive rains than the earlier reports had indicated and the private wires stated that this moisture would greatly benefit the parched crop. Near the close Europe, the South and smaller longs sold; bull leaders rendered some support but made little attempt to rally prices. August dropped from 8.67 to 8.40 in the absence of a rong support. The close was steady with prices net eight to twenty-two points lower. Total sales were estimated at 40,000 bales, or less than half the business reported yesterday.

NEW YORK, August 28.—Flour was quiet and easier at a slight decline on top grades: Minnesota patents $3 80@4 00. Wheat—Spot easier; No. 2 red 74⅞c. Reflecting a bearish weather map and a favorable forecast for Friday, wheat attained still lower levels to-day under moderate selling for both accounts. Options market broke sharply on the fine weather news especially September under vigorous liquidation and rumors of large receipts, closing weak at ⅛@1c net decline: May closed 43¾c; September closed 64¼c; December closed 48½c. Oats—Spot dull; track white 32@43c. Options market was likewise affected by weather conditions and general unloading: May closed 35¾c; October closed 38½c; December closed 35¾c. CHICAGO, 28.—Bright weather generally was the bearish factor in grains to day. All cereals suffered recessions at the start on general and free liquidation by longs and for some time bears had free rein. Later there was something of a natural reaction, especially in oats. The close however, was weak in the main, September wheat ½@1c down, September corn 1½c lower and September oats ½c higher. September provisions closed off 15 to 32½c higher.

BLEEDING HEARTS AND HEARTSEASE

{Copyright, 1901, by the S. S. McClure Company.}

The name seemed to fall on her like a blessing.

The brown nun!

Why was she so called?

Perhaps because of the quiet, restful little figure. Again, it may have been the shadowy, brown eyes, the smooth silk of her hair under its white cap or the serenity breathing from the broad forehead. Be that as it may, the name had taken her for its own, the little brown nun, not of the convent, but of the world.

The lonesome little girl who lived across the street, whose mamma had said goodby one day and had never come back, would hang on the iron fence and look at the brown nun with her distrustful eyes, would watch her enviously as she worked among her cheerful flowers.

But she met the sweet, shadowy eyes one day divine with unspoken pity, and a lump rose in the rebellious throat as the brown nun rested a tender hand on the uncared for curls and asked:

"Are you lonesome?"

"Yes'm."

"So am I."

Thus was the bond established between them.

Another day the brown nun gathered a flower from her garden and put it in the hot palm of the child.

"This is heartsease," she murmured.

That night the child took it with her to her lonely bed and laid it on her breast. "She said it was heartsease," she whispered. And afterward the small, grave lips smiled as she slept.

The lonesome little girl played by herself in a small park at the end of the block. A pale, youngish man, whose hair was streaked with gray, nearly always came there of an evening. He was so quiet the child minded him no more than the trees. He looked lonely, too, and she was never afraid of lonely folks.

And when he called her to him one day in his grave voice she did not feel timid, but came unhesitatingly.

"You always play alone," he said kindly. "Don't you have any one to play with?"

She shook her tangled head.

"Then you are lonely?"

"I was till she loved me."

"Who?"

"The little brown nun," she said softly.

Then the blood tinged the white face, and the light in his eyes drew the child nearer.

"The little brown nun," he iterated, then added: "She is good to you. Where is your mother, my child?"

"She went away," answered the lonely child, and two tears fell on the thin cheeks.

The brown nun asked her that night if she ever saw any one in the park, and the child told her about the young man.

"Is he alone?"

"Yes'm."

"Does he look happy?"

"No'm. He jus' sits there an' he stares, an' he's all whity," she explained lucidly.

The next evening the young man called the child to him again as she played tag by herself.

He had a beautiful drooping spray of pink flowers in his hand, and he gave it to the little girl.

"Will you do something for me?" he asked, and she nodded her head.

"Take this to the little brown nun, and she will understand." And the little one ran till she came to where the brown nun was tending her flowers.

"He said give it to you. He said you'd understand."

"Who said it? Who gave it to you?"

"Him, in the park."

The flower was a bleeding heart.

Then the brown nun put it in her bosom and plucked a tiny flower and pressed it into the soiled palm of the little one.

"This is a flower for the lonesome young man," she faltered, and her cheeks grew rosier than her roses.

The flower was a heartsease.

The child played about the pale young man a long time, unable to approach him. She was jealous and a dozen times was tempted to throw the flower away. It was crushed, withered and dirty.

Finally he sighed and rose to leave. Then she pressed her hot little hand into his, leaving the flower in his palm.

"She sent it. She said it was heartsease."

"Who sent it?"

"Her!" She flung her head toward the brown nun, then darted away.

And the pale young man looked at the token, his face flushing as he murmured:

"She has sent me heartsease by the child. Can it be she has forgiven?"

That night the lonesome little girl could not sleep in her lonely bed. She looked longingly at the brown nun's garden under the moonlight. Then she slipped over to the gate, and the next moment the little brown nun, the shadows in her eyes fled away before a great light, drew the motherless child in to her bosom.

"My heartsease!"

And the young man, with the glow of a great love in his face, came from amid the flowers and, kissing the face of the child, echoed:

"My heartsease!"

And a stone was rolled away from the heart of the child—the stone of loneliness. LYDIA PERKINS.

A Disappointed Darky.

I stood one Saturday afternoon on the porch of a Luray (Va.) hotel and saw file past a hundred or more darkies returning from work, each and every one of them carrying a "watermillion" under his arm. They had been paid off, and a convenient farm wagon loaded with melons happened to pass as they filed along, and the darkies all bought.

One young buck, after hugging that melon for several blocks, "just couldn't stand it no longer" and without ado sat down upon the curb, and in the absence of a jackknife he deftly tapped the melon against the edge of the curb until it broke asunder. Mansfield in transforming his Jekyll face into that of Hyde upon the stage never equaled the lightning change of countenance exhibited by that darky. One moment his eyes bulged, his mouth distorted, his teeth glistened, and his face fairly glowed with pleasurable expectancy, and in the twinkling of an eye when the parted halves of that unripe and white seeded melon fell from his palsied hands his eyes contracted to mere slits showing an angry, snakelike red, his face became of an ashen hue—call it pale if you will—and through his slightly parted lips he hissed out imprecation after imprecation upon the farmer, showing the fact clearly that the disappointed one was a past grand master in the art of profanity.—Forest and Stream.

No Resignation For Him.

Friend—Well, I hope you met your defeat with resignation.

Politician—Not on your life! I'd be there yet if it depended on me! It was too good a job to resign!—San Francisco Bulletin.

AN IMPOSSIBILITY.

Every Chick Hatched From a Sitting Will Not Be a Prize Winner.

Last winter at a prominent poultry show I heard a man, evidently a beginner in the business of breeding and showing fowls, making a vigorous kick about the chicks he got from a high priced sitting of eggs. He admitted that he got a good hatch, but only three of the chicks were fit to show, one of them having won a first prize at the show he was then attending. To any one but an amateur three show birds from one sitting of eggs would be highly satisfactory, and when another fancier remarked as much the dissatisfied one went on to state that to him three good ones out of a brood only showed that the strain that produced them was not what it ought to be; that if it was a real good strain the whole batch should have been uniformly good.

There are probably many beginners who have ideas similar to those expressed by the exhibitor referred to who will be surprised to learn later on how hard it is to produce the crack exhibition specimens in any and every class of live stock. In the trotting horse, which has been bred expressly for the purpose of speed at the trot for over fifty years, it is seldom that a brood mare produces more than one real great race horse among the dozen or so foals which the average mare will bear. Cresceus, 2:02¼, is the champion trotter, but there is an own brother to him somewhere out west that has never been able to trot a mile as fast as 2:30.

The same lack of uniformity when "the best" is the standard to go by is found in other branches of breeding. We sometimes read of a bull of some of the beef breeds of cattle selling for $5,000 or more after winning the highest honors in the show ring, but it is seldom that we hear of a brother to such a bull selling for one-half as much. With such known facts relating to breeding in other branches, why should a breeder of fancy fowls expect Mother Nature to reverse her processes and give a different result when it comes to their branch of breeding? All the modern breeds of horses, cattle, sheep, swine and fowls are composite breeds. In the process of their foundation different and in some instances antagonistic characteristics marked the stock used. By the exercise of the breeder's art, which consists mainly in knowing what he wants to produce and a wise process of selection to attain that end, uniformity of type is attained in a certain degree, and with each generation it is the endeavor of the breeder to get nearer to what is termed perfection.

Not all the knowledge of the breeder, however, can enable him to entirely control the product of his yards. Atavistic tendencies will continue to show themselves and some specimens will "take back" to faraway ancestors, so different in type from what is demanded in the breed today. A breeding pen may be line bred for several generations and still in a hatch of brood brothers and sisters some will closely approach perfection, while others will be little better than culls. The beginner cannot learn these facts any too quickly for his own good. The knowledge not only makes him more reasonable as a customer, but it also prepares him for the work which he must perform if he is to develop into a successful breeder.

Few beginners realize the amount of study and work necessary to establish a strain of real high class fowls of any breed. That one may buy either fowls or eggs and with them produce some prize winners the first year is true, but to go on mating and producing birds of that kind is another thing and something that cannot be done by random methods. To succeed requires a natural liking for breeding, the power of observation in a high degree and the capacity to recognize the difficulties to be overcome. With these conditions fulfilled, the natural fancier soon becomes an enthusiast, and enthusiasm in any field, if upheld by determination, usually results in success.—Henry Allen in Poultry Keeper.

A Biting Retort.

Lady Wortley Montagu, one of England's most brilliant women, incurred Pope's undying hatred in the following manner: The poet, who was deformed and very dark and addicted to questioning everybody, once asked her to define an interrogation mark. She defined it as "a little, crooked, black thing that asks questions."

After the Battle.

"Life is a battle," said the moralist, "in which some are wounded"—

"And bank cashiers," interrupted the jokesmith, "are usually reported among the missing."—Philadelphia Record.

FIVE MEMBERS OF A BOAT PARTY DROWNED.

Rowboat Was Run Down by a Steamer on Lake Goguac, Near Battle Creek, Mich.--Only One Person Saved.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH., Aug. 28.—Five members of a boating party of six employes of the Battle Creek Sanitarium were drowned last night in Lake Goguac. Their rowboat was run down by the steamer Welcome. The dead: Mable Richard, aged 26, stenographer, Traverse City, Mich.; Lizzie Brady, aged 25, nurse, residence unknown; Della Dorsey, aged 21, nurse, Allegheny, Pa.; Fannie Willis, nurse, home near Toronto; C. F. Bennett, male nurse, Dallas, Texas. Miss Carrie Eyock, the other occupant of the capsized boat, was rescued.

Bennett had been rowing the young ladies about the lake and the party was returning to the sanitarium villa about 10 o'clock, just as the little steamer Welcome was leaving her dock with an excursion party. In some as yet unexplained way the Welcome ran the rowboat down. The rowboat was struck amidship and the hull crushed. All the occupants were thrown into the water. Miss Eyock managed to catch hold of the overturned boat and hung to it until she was rescued by a person who had witnessed the accident and came out in a boat. In a short time the bodies of Miss Brady and Miss Richard were found floating on the water. They had evidently been killed by the collision or else they would have sunk as did their companions. The bodies were recovered. All of the victims except Miss Richard were members of the new class of nurses at the sanitarium.

COTTON STATES CONVENTION.

Cotton Culture and Other Topics Discussed. Proposition for a Permanent Exposition of Southern Products.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NASHVILLE, TENN., August 28.—The convention of the Cotton States Commissioners of Agriculture to-day adopted a resolution expressing their acknowledgment and appreciation of the able management of the national department of agriculture by Hon. James Wilson.

In the course of a paper on cotton culture, J. F. Dugger, of Alabama, said that cotton would undoubtedly hold its position during our generation because it is easily sold, requires less capital and can be grown on poor soil that will not raise other products. A too close cultivation impoverishes the soil, but there should be gradual and rational changes.

Judge W. H. Tayloe, of Alabama, read a paper on the Torrens system of land registration and its effect on the value of country property. The speaker declared he would like to see the association start a crusade against everything but fee simple titles. Entailing, life estates and dowers should be abolished and the time to begin was now. With the question of titles once settled it would be easy to settle the question of land values.

Malcom McNeal, of Atlanta, presented a proposition to establish in Chicago a free permanent exposition of all the products of the Southern States. It is also proposed to establish a Southern bureau of information and a club for the improvement of commercial relations. A resolution endorsing the project was introduced and referred to a special committee.

The Cotton States Association of Commissioners completed its programme to-night and adjourned to meet next year in Montgomery, Ala., the date of the convention being left to the executive committee.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY CO.

Continuation of Voting Trust Recommended Until Negotiations Now Pending Are Settled.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—A circular to the stockholders of the Southern Railway Company, was issued by J. Pierpont Morgan, Charles Lanier and George F. Baker, the voting trustees, recommending a continuation of the voting trust for five years, or until October 15th, 1907. The company postponed a dividend declaration recently in order that the shareholders might have an opportunity to record their wishes as to an extension of the voting trust. The circular contains the following:

"The events of the past eighteen months in connection with railroad properties have revealed the danger to which corporate properties are exposed to the control of their stock being bought up in the market by purchasers not identified with the property or permanently interested in its development and improvement. Therefore, we do not hesitate to state that in our opinion it is decidedly for the interests of the stockholders of the Southern railway to protect their property by an extension of the voting trust until negotiations now pending for the further development and strengthening of its lines shall be settled beyond any risk of being overturned, and until the completion of other negotiations now pending in regard to transportation interests in the Southern States, which have an important bearing upon the interests of the Southern Railway Company."

The negro who assaulted Mrs. Della Dixon, an aged white woman, at Pensacola, Fla, was sent to Tallahassee for safe keeping. A company of State militia was on guard at the jail all night. The mob, composed largely of Mrs. Dixon's neighbors, was demonstrative for a time, but finally dispersed, not caring to face the rifles.

WEST VIRGINIA COAL STRIKERS.

A Serious Conflict With Mine Guards on Crane Creek in Mercer County.

TWO KILLED ON EACH SIDE.

A Regiment of Troops Ordered Out—Trouble in the New River Coal Fields—Sheriff Powerless—People Refuse to Serve.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ROANOKE, VA., Aug. 28.—Advices received at the general offices of the Norfolk & Western Company, from the coal fields, say that two mine guards and two strikers were killed in a battle on Crane Creek in Mercer county, West Virginia, this morning. The scene of the shooting is in the vicinity of the Crane Creek Coal Company's operation and of the Thomas Cole & Coke Company's operation. A body of mine guards numbering thirty or forty were fired on by a party of unknown men armed with rifles, believed to have been made up of strikers. The guards returned their fire and when the shooting had ceased it was found that two men on each side had been killed. The sheriff of Mercer county, whose office is at Princeton court house, was immediately advised and left at once for the scene. Norfolk & Western officials say the trouble was confined to the Crane Creek territory where several of the operations have been closed down.

At Caswell Creek yesterday evening a volley was fired by unknown men, wounding a boy who was employed as a driver in a mine. There is no clue to the identity of the men who did the shooting and a search by a posse for them has so far been unsuccessful.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., August 28.—Col. C. E. Morrison, of this city, commanding the Second regiment, West Virginia National Guard, received orders to-day from Governor White calling his regiment to the new Rister coal fields. The officers refuse to state their destination, but it is supposed to be Red Ash, where deputies were fired upon yesterday.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Aug. 28.—Major James E. Verlander, of the Second battalion, West Virginia National Guard, has received orders from Governor White to proceed at once with the three companies of State militia here and one company at Milton to New River coal fields where trouble is imminent. The companies have been assembled and will leave at once on a special train. Serious trouble is predicted.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 28.—The troops ordered to the New River strike district to-day by Governor White will establish headquarters at Thurmond. The situation is very acute. Sheriff Daniel, who is here to-day from Fayette county, says he is powerless to depress disorder, and property and life are in constant danger. Nearly everybody refuses to act as deputy sheriff to assist in the eviction of striking miners and hence the sheriff made a request for troops. Men concealed along the mountain sides fire at the guards and at the miners going to work and then disappear. Governor White says he sends the troops to protect life and property, but not to settle the strike. That he says, belongs to the miners and operators. Great danger is imminent in the New River fields.

ROANOKE, VA., Aug. 28.—A special to the Roanoke Times from Bluefield, W. Va., says:

There is considerable excitement on Crane Creek and Simmons Creek over the recent shootings. This morning John Ruble, a blacksmith employed by the Sigamore Coal and Coke Company, was shot by striking miners and killed. Reports were current during the day that a number of guards had been killed and wounded by the strikers, but investigation proved that Ruble was the only one killed.

A FIGHT TO THE FINISH.

No Prospects of an Early Settlement of Strike in Pennsylvania Regions.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

WILKESBARRE, PA., August 28.—The officials at strike headquarters have settled down to the belief that there is no immediate prospect of an early settlement of the strike. While President Mitchell would not say anything himself, some of his subordinates have been of the opinion that the return of J. Pierpont Morgan to this country would bring about a change in the situation, favorable to the miners. The developments for the last few days, however, have entirely dispelled this view, and now all that is heard is, "It is a fight to the finish!"

At the offices of the local coal companies the information is given out that the output of coal in the Wyoming region is increasing daily. This is denied stoutly at strike headquarters and the minutes of a meeting of the employes of Avondale mine held yesterday, on file at President Mitchell's headquarters show that none of the hands formerly employed at the Colliery has returned.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S PRIMARY.

Contest for the U. S. Senatorship Lies Between Latimer and Evans

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 28.—Complete reports of the primary election from every one of the forty-one counties in the State, with the exception of one poll in Florence and two polls in Spartanburg county, which cannot affect the general result, show that Congressman A. C. Latimer, candidate for the U. S. Senate, received 22,891, and ex-Governor John Gary Evans 18,521 votes, and they will, therefore, run in the second primary on September 9th. Captain D. C. Heyward, candidate for governor, has received more votes than any two of his competitors and leads his closest competitor, the Hon. M. F. Ansel, with whom he will run in the second primary, by almost 19,000 votes, the tabulation showing: Heyward 36,599, and Ansel 17,668 votes. Congressman Talbert received 17,195 votes for governor, and Colonel James H. Tillman 16,342 votes.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 28—It was made known to-day that President Roosevelt almost immediately after his return to Oyster Bay on September 3d, will make a flying trip to Tennessee and North Carolina. He will leave on the 5th for Chattanooga, where he will attend the conference of the Locomotive Firemen on the 6th, Sunday, the 7th, will be spent in looking over the battlefield of Chickamauga. IN EVENT OF A STRINGENCY.

National Banks to Issue Circulating Notes to Full Amount of Their Capital. Secretary Shaw's Plan

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—In view of rumors as to Secretary Shaw's plans for relieving the money market in the event of a possible stringency, the secretary, who is in New York, today authorized Assistant Secretary Ailes to make the following statement:

The secretary recently invited some of the larger national banks in the principal cities to order additional amounts of circulating notes to be printed. National banks are entitled to issue circulation to the full amount of their capital. The aggregate capital of the national banks is $ 700,000,000, but the banks have outstanding not $387,000,000 of circulation. The secretary has hoped to introduce an element of elasticity into the present system. His suggestions to the various banks in the larger cities that they make preparation for additional circulation have met with very favorable response. It is not his intention that they should issue this additional circulation at all events, but only in case of actual necessity and emergency. He does not propose to inflate the currency in any sense, but to be prepared to meet the actual currency demand should one arise. With this in view those banks which have made arragements to deposit United States bonds as security for such additional circulation have sent in their orders and the secretary has had all branches of the treasury service busily engaged in expediting the preparation of the notes, pending a possible emergency."

THE INTERSTATE SHOOT.

The Principal Event, the Company Team Match, Was Not Finished Owing to Rain—Will Conclude To-day.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAVANNAH, GA., August 28.—The principal event in the interstate shoot at the Avondale range to-day was the company team match, open to the South, distances 200, 300 and 500 yards, and skirmish at silhouette figures; seven shots on each range; ten halts on skirmish and one shot at each hit. The prize is a silver loving cup and $50 cash. Fifteen teams from six States entered. Owing to rain the match was not finished. Two teams of the Savannah Cadets were leading when the firing ceased. No local company can win first prize, however, as it has been agreed that the visiting company making the highest score shall take the prize.

In the cavalry carbine match, at 200, 300 and 500 yards, the Liberty Independent Troop led by two points when rain stopped the firing.

All scores to-day were low, owing to the poor light. The matches of to-day will be concluded to-morrow morning. Four hundred men in uniform were at the butts during the day.

The regimental matches begin to-morrow, when the DeSoto trophy, valued at $450, will be shot for.

THE ARMY AND NAVY

First Real Move in the Game of War to be Made To-night.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW LONDON, CONN., Aug. 28—To-morrow night the first real move in the game of war between the army and navy will be made. Gardiner's Point has been considered a weak spot by the army men and one liable to be attacked by the navy. There is no fort at that point and it is only guarded by two dismounted guns. The submarine mine boat Dime is darting about in that vicinity, which leads to the belief that the passage of the North Atlantic squadron will be interrupted by mines.

FISHER'S ISLAND, N. Y., Aug. 28.—The troops at Fort Wright are gradually making themselves familiar with the armament on the island. To-night search light signals are being exchanged with New London. What is believed to be the largest search light in the United States has been mounted on the top of Prospect Mount, and the New London shore, five miles away, can be plainly seen when the light is turned in that direction.

WAGES INCREASED.

Machinists, Blacksmiths and Boiler Makers of the Southern Railway System.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The Southern Railway has increased the wages of the machinists, blacksmiths and boiler makers employed on its system. The apprentice system is to be regulated on a basis of one apprentice to five journeymen. Time and one-half is to be allowed for all over time, including Sundays and holidays, and also for work on the road away from home. Committees from employes of the road recently have been in conference with the officials of the company, and the latter's action has met with general satisfaction.

The president returned from San Casimiro to Cua, and is marching on Ocumare, where the advance guard of the government army is stationed. The revolutionists occupy LaDemocracia, only a few leagues distant from Ocumare. All the telegraph and telephone lines are cut.

STRIKERS AND TROOPS CLASH.

Trolley Cars With Soldiers Attacked by a Mob Near Lansford, Pa.

HURLED ROCKS AT SOLDIERS.

An Officer Wounded and Five of the Rioters Captured in the Melee That Followed—Situation Serious. Intense Feeling Exists.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

TAMAQUA, PA., August 28.—The first clash between the striking miners and the troops occurred this morning, and as a result five prisoners are in the guard house at the Twelfth regiment camp, and Captain J. Beaver Gearheart, of Company F, Twelfth regiment, is suffering from a wound on his shoulder made by a stone thrown by a striker.

This morning a report gained currency that the striking men were gathering in force to make a march on the No. 4 colliery, where the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company is mining and cleaning coal. The colliery is at the west end of the Panther Creek valley and the Governor's troop was ordered to that point. Company F and Company K, of the Twelfth regiment, were placed on trolley cars and run through to the valley. When the cars reached Summit Hill they were surrounded by a mob of strikers, who hurled rocks at the soldiers and called them hard names. While "Jimmy" Marteen, an Italian, was in the act of hurling a stone at a car several soldiers jumped off and made an attempt to arrest him. Marteen offered resistance, and the soldiers were compelled to fix their bayonets.

A Melee Followed.

During the melee which followed Martin was slightly wounded in the left side. The troopers started back to camp and as the cars rounded a curve just outside of Summit Hill, at a point where the tracks take an abrupt dip, the motorman on the first car made the discovery that the rails had been greased. The cars were stopped and soldiers were sent ahead to place sand on the rails. When this had been done, it was possible by moving the cars slowly to reach Lansford in safety. A mob had gathered there and for a time it looked like riot. As the first car was passing through the mob, Captain Dearheart was struck on the right shoulder by a stone. Several soldiers jumped from the car in pursuit of the stone-thrower After an exciting scuffle, they captured Joseph McCann, a young miner.

The cars proceeded again but had not gone far when another crowd was encountered and the soldiers were again taunted and stoned. Half a dozen soldiers jumped off and captured three men, who it is alleged were urging the crowd to attack the troops. The men gave their names as John King, Timothy King and John Kelly. They were taken to camp at Manila Park, where together with McCann and Marteen they were placed under a heavy guard.

The officers of the Twelfth regiment all agree that the situation is serious. The feeling here against the soldiers is intense.

PRESIDENT IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Made Speeches to Great Crowds--A Crush at the G. A. R. Meeting.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEWBURY, N. H., Aug. 28.—New Hampshire's arms were open to-day in readiness to receive the President. At Nashua, Manchester, The Weirs and Concord the President made speeches to great crowds. The day was replete with the miscarriage of arrangements. At The Weirs, where the Grand Army reunion was held, the people, in the excess of their desire to accord the President a fitting reception, came near causing a crush which might have resulted disastrously. As it was the President was for a time in the midst of a howling, surging mass, and was all but carried off his feet. A great crush occurred at Concord as the train was pulling out, and for a time it was feared people would be hurt.

A NEW RAILROAD

To Extend from Columbus, Ga., to St. Andrews Bay, Fla.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAVANNAH, GA., Aug. 28.—The announcement was made to-day on the authority of W. H. Hawkins, president of the Columbus, Eufaula, and Gulf railway, that arrangements have been completed for the extension of that road from Columbus, Ga., to St. Andrews Bay, Fla.

The new road will be 190 miles long and the building will cost about $15,000 a mile. It will run for 130 miles through a forest of virgin pine timber, in which an axe has never been put. This is said to be the largest untouched pine forest in the South. It will be worked both for turpentine and timber.

BOTH BOATS DAMAGED

Steam Yacht in Collision With a Ferry Boat in New York Harbor.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The steam yacht Kanawha, owned by H. H. Rogers, of the Standard Oil Company, was in collision to-day off the foot of Grand street, East river, with the Long Island railroad ferry boat Rockaway. The yacht's bow-sprit carried off the top of the ladies' cabin of the ferryboat and a small naptha launch on the Kanawha was torn from its davits. The yacht continued down the river and the Rockaway proceeded to Long Island City, after only a few minutes delay.

SEVERE STORM.

Caused Considerable Damage to Crops and Other Property in Mississippi.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

HAZELHURST, MISS., August 28.—A heavy rain and wind did considerable damage to crops and other property in this section to-day, many trees and fences being damaged by the storm. The gauge registered two inches of rain.

Heavy rains also fell to-day in the Yazoo valley which, it is stated, will cause cotton to shed and will lower the grade. The rain is reported to have been general throughout the south and west section and the first for some weeks.

General Nelson A. Miles, accompanied by Mrs. Miles, and his aides, Colonels Whitney and Maus, will leave Washington for the Philippine islands next Wednesday.

THE NEGRO QUESTION.

An Article in the London Telegraph Inspired by the Native Problem Looming Up in South Africa.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Apparently inspired by the native problem, which is looming in South Africa, the Daily Telegraph this morning publishes a significant editorial article on the negro question, which it insists is, for the Anglo-Saxon, race a more serious and urgent problem than the "yellow danger."

The paper confesses that the ideals which underlaid the emancipation movement have quite failed of realization; that it has been proved throughout the world that the negro is incapable of working out his own salvation and that the theory of electoral equality is a delusion, mischievous to both negroes and whites.

"The negro franchise in the Southern States of America," says the paper, "is already a farce and its suppression in all but exceptional cases cannot, in all probability, be permanently deferred."

In conclusion the article asks: "What is to be the ultimate destiny of the vast and multiplying black population of South Africa? That is the problem which looms behind every other."

OPPOSITION TO PALMA.

Bitter Feeling in Havana—Members of the House Demand His Impeachment.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

HAVANA, Aug. 28.—President Palma finds himself to-day without the support of a single newspaper controlled by Cubans. The editorials published by the Cuban press are, considered collectively, remarkable for their bitterness and outspoken opposition to the chief executive. The only paper which supports the President is the Diarece de La Marina, formerly the organ of the Spanish government, and at present representing the Spanish colony in Cuba.

One of the principal causes of the opposition to President Palma seems to arise from the fact that he granted the Castaenda concession for the establishment of an electric light plant at Havana. This concession has been a subject of bitter discussion in the House of Representatives and some members of the House are demanding Senor Palma's impeachment, unless the concession is rescinded. The impeachment matter has been upon the table for the past week. Both houses of Congress have become badly disorganized over this question and the result has been a strong anti-Palma feeling.

A MATCH RACE.

Between Prince Alert and Anaconda at Hartford Next Wednesday.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 28.—Prince Alert, 2:00¾, and Anaconda, 2:01¼, have been matched for a special race at the grand circuit meeting at the Charter Oak Park, Hartford, next Wednesday. Horsemen were considerably surprised at the outcome of the first free for all pace yesterday in which Anaconda beat Prince Alert in two straight heats at Narragansett Park breaking the harness record of the year with a mile in 2:02. Discussion of the merits of these pacers was resumed and Andy Welsh, of Hartford, offered a purse of $3,000 with 75 per cent. of the gate receipts for a match race and the deal was closed.

A GHOSTLY FIND.

Charred Bodies of Man and Woman in Ruins of a Barn at Bridgeton, N. J.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BRIDGETON, N. J., August 29.—Searchers in the ruins of the barn of John S. Holmes, which was burned last night, were horrified to find the charred bodies of Holmes and his housekeeper, Miss Katherine Shute. It is believed they went into the burning structure to save the horses and perished in the attempt.

John Murray Williams, a colored farm hand, who had been employed by Mr. Holmes, was arrested to day and placed in jail on suspicion of having been implicated in burning Holmes' barn.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Met at Greensboro and Endorsed Candidacy of Thos. H. Hill—No Negro Delegates Admitted

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 28.—The Republican State Convention met at Greensboro to-day and endorsed the candidacy of Thomas H. Hill, of Halifax, independent, for chief justice of the Supreme Court, and left blank the position of associate justices. D. A. Long, of Alamance, was nominated for superintendent of public instruction, and D. H. Abbott, the present incumbent, for corporation commissioner. The convention ratified the names of candidates for superior court judgeships and adjourned.

The convention was composed entirely of white men. Contesting delegations of negroes, headed by such men as H. P. Cheatham and O'Hara, prominent eastern North Carolina colored Republicans, were in every instance defeated.

All the business of the convention was settled in caucus. Capt. Charles Price, of Salisbury, was chairman of the convention. He made a speech congratulating the Republican party on the elimination of the negro from politics in North Carolina, saying that they were now released from the body of death.

A number of former Democrats were among the delegates.

CASH AND CREDIT!

The impression seems to be that I sell only for cash. It is true that the lowest spot cash prices are marked in plain figures on all my goods. It is true that I do not swap new goods for old. It is true I do not sell to Tom, Dick and Harry on the "Instalment Plan." It is true that by not doing either of these two things I never have anything second hand in my store, but it is not true that I sell only for cash; on the contrary, I recognize the fact that the most desirable class of people are not always in a position to pay cash, and while they do not want to pay the extortionate prices charged by instalment houses, nor run the risk of buying goods that have been used by somebody else, they are willing to pay a reasonable rate of interest, and to accommodate this class of customers. I will sell to any desirable person on terms suited to their convenience, adding a small amount to the spot cash prices that are marked in plain figures on all my goods.
